

Registration Guide – Developing and Developed Countries

The UCEC2015 Steering Committee would be honoured to have you join us for this year's conference. We are delighted to offer a discount for delegates whom work at an institution in developing countries. To assist with the definition of developing and developed countries, we have an extract below from the World Bank. Please be advised that the countries in the below list are considered developed countries, and any other country not present in the list will be eligible for the "developing country" discount at UCEC2015.
